

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART I - BASIC CONCEPTS AND PRINCIPLES

I. Competition law and federations	220
1. What is competition law?	220
2. Why is competition law relevant to federations? Why do federations receive special attention from the competition authorities?	220
3. What is an “association of undertakings” within the meaning of competition law? When does an organisation fall within the scope of this definition?	221
4. Does competition law also apply to non-profit organisations and non-profit federations? Does competition law also apply if a federation performs a public-law task?	222
5. Does the government need to respect competition law?	222
6. Can a federation be regarded as an “undertaking” within the meaning of competition law?	223
7. When are the members of a federation competing undertakings in the relevant market? What is the relevant market?	224
8. What are the consequences if a federation represents members who are competitors?	225
9. Are there any particular points of attention for federations in a concentrated market?	226
II. Decision-making and membership	228
10. When does a decision by an association of undertakings within the meaning of competition law arise? Do recommendations fall under this notion?	228
11. Can a federation impose membership conditions?	229
12. May a federation exclude members? What procedural safeguards are required in the event of exclusion and withdrawal?	230
13. May a federation require exclusivity from its members if there are several federations active in the same sector?	231

PART II - ENFORCEMENT AND PROCEDURES

I. Enforcement	233
14. What is the role of the BCA and the European Commission?	233

15. How can a federation contact a competition authority?.....	233
16. How does a competition investigation by the BCA proceed in practice?.....	234
17. Who can file a complaint with the BCA?	236
18. What is a dawn raid?.....	237
19. Can decisions by federations be challenged in court?	238
20. Does a limitation period apply for infringements of competition law?	239
21. May a federation inform its members about an ongoing investigation?.....	239
22. How can a federation request an informal opinion from the competition authority regarding a project?.....	240
II. Liability of a federation and sanctions.....	241
23. Who can be held liable for competition infringements: a federation, its members, or both?	241
24. In what circumstances can a federation be held liable for the conduct of its members?.....	242
25. Can a federation be held liable without itself carrying out commercial activities?	243
III. Penalties for infringements and other consequences.....	243
26. Can a federation be fined if it breaches competition rules?.....	243
27. How is the fine that may be imposed on a federation calculated?	243
28. What happens in the event of a federation's insolvency? Can members be asked to contribute to the payment of the fine?	245
29. What is leniency? Can a federation apply for leniency?	246
30. What is personal liability? Does this also apply in a federation context?	247
31. What does it mean to apply for personal immunity? Can a staff member of a federation do so?	248
32. Are there other consequences that a federation must take into account if it has infringed the competition rules?.....	248
IV. Requests for information	249
33. What is a request for information?.....	249
34. Is a federation obliged to respond to a RFI?.....	249
35. What should a federation bear in mind when responding to a RFI?	250

36. What if a federation needs to collect and disclose confidential information?	251
37. What if the competition authority itself provides information to a federation based on, for example, other intelligence it has gathered? Can a federation share this information as such with its members?.....	251
38. Is the competition authority required to guarantee the confidentiality of the information provided by a federation?.....	252

PART III - POINTS OF ATTENTION IN THE SPECIFIC ACTIVITIES OF FEDERATIONS

I. General.....	253
39. What are the main areas of risk for a federation? What are common mistakes made by federations?	253
II. Information exchange.....	254
40. What information may members exchange with one another via a federation?.....	254
41. When does information exchange pose a competition law risk? How can a federation assess an information exchange project and put adequate safeguards in place?.....	255
42. What requirements apply if a federation wishes to set up a black-box?.....	258
43. Does a federation remain responsible if an independent third party is engaged, for example as a "black-box"?	259
44. When is information sufficiently aggregated for the purposes of competition law?	260
45. When does benchmarking pose a risk? When is benchmarking permitted?.....	263
III. Disclosure of information to the government or actions at the government's request	265
46. The government asks a federation to take specific actions - is a federation liable? When does government compulsion apply?.....	265
47. What are the points of attention when a federation is required to report to the government?	267
48. What should a federation do if the government requests an action that is not in accordance with the competition rules?.....	269
49. What if a federation has to disclose confidential information to the government?	270
IV. Formulating policy positions and lobbying.....	270

50. May a federation develop common positions on policy or regulation?.....	270
51. What is the difference between discussing legislative initiatives and the implementation of legislative initiatives by members? What is the relevance of this distinction?	271
V. Codes of conduct, standards, technical standards and quality labels	273
52. Are federations permitted to draft codes of conduct? What are the points of attention?	273
53. Are federations permitted to develop quality labels and technical standards? What are the points of attention?	274
VI. Template contracts or clauses.....	276
54. What are the points of attention when drafting template contracts or clauses?	276
VII. Trade fairs, exhibitions and informal networking events	277
55. What are the points of attention when organising trade fairs or exhibitions?	277
VIII. Sector agreements and joint initiatives	277
56. What are the points of attention when undertaking joint initiatives, such as setting up a sustainability project?	277
IX. Public communication.....	280
57. What should a federation bear in mind when drafting a press release, a post on its website or social media?	280

PART IV - COMPLIANCE AND RISK MANAGEMENT

I. Embedding a compliance policy.....	282
58. What are the key principles for a federation wishing to integrate compliance with competition law into its policy?	282
59. What steps can a federation take to set up a compliance programme, and which elements are essential?.....	283
60. How can a federation convince its board of directors of the importance of compliance?....	285
61. How can a federation embed the importance of compliance?	285
62. How can a compliance culture be created within a federation? How is “tone-from-the-top” ensured in practice?.....	286
II. Meetings.....	286

63. How can a federation avoid risks in meetings and working groups?	286
64. Why is it important to keep accurate minutes?	289
65. How detailed should minutes be?	289
66. What should a federation’s position be regarding informal discussions among members?	290
67. Are the risks the same for meetings of the board of directors and decentralised committees?	291
68. What should a federation bear in mind when organising online meetings?	291
69. What are the points of attention when using AI within a federation?	293
III. Communication	294
70. What are the points of attention regarding written communication?.....	294
71. What are the points of attention regarding verbal communication within a federation?.....	295
IV. Training and knowledge sharing	295
72. Why is training on competition law important? What are the points of attention?	295

PART V - PREPARATION OF DOCUMENTATION AND GUIDELINES

I. General policy on competition law (Competition Compliance Policy)	298
1. Purpose of a general policy	298
2. Typical sections	298
3. Tips & tricks.....	299
II. Meeting policy	299
1. Objective.....	299
2. Typical content sections	300
3. Tips & tricks.....	300
III. Policy on information exchange & benchmarking	301
1. Objective.....	301
2. Typical content sections	301
3. Tips & tricks.....	302

IV. Dawn raid guidelines 302

- 1. Purpose of the document..... 302
- 2. Typical content sections 302
- 3. Tips & tricks..... 303